About Security as a Service Market

The Global Security as a Service Market size is expected to reach $19.1 billion by 2024, rising at a market growth of 16.4% CAGR during the forecast period.

Security as a service is an outsourcing model which is built for security management. Security as a service typically covers applications such as internet - based anti - Virus software; however the term may also refer to internal security management from an external organization.

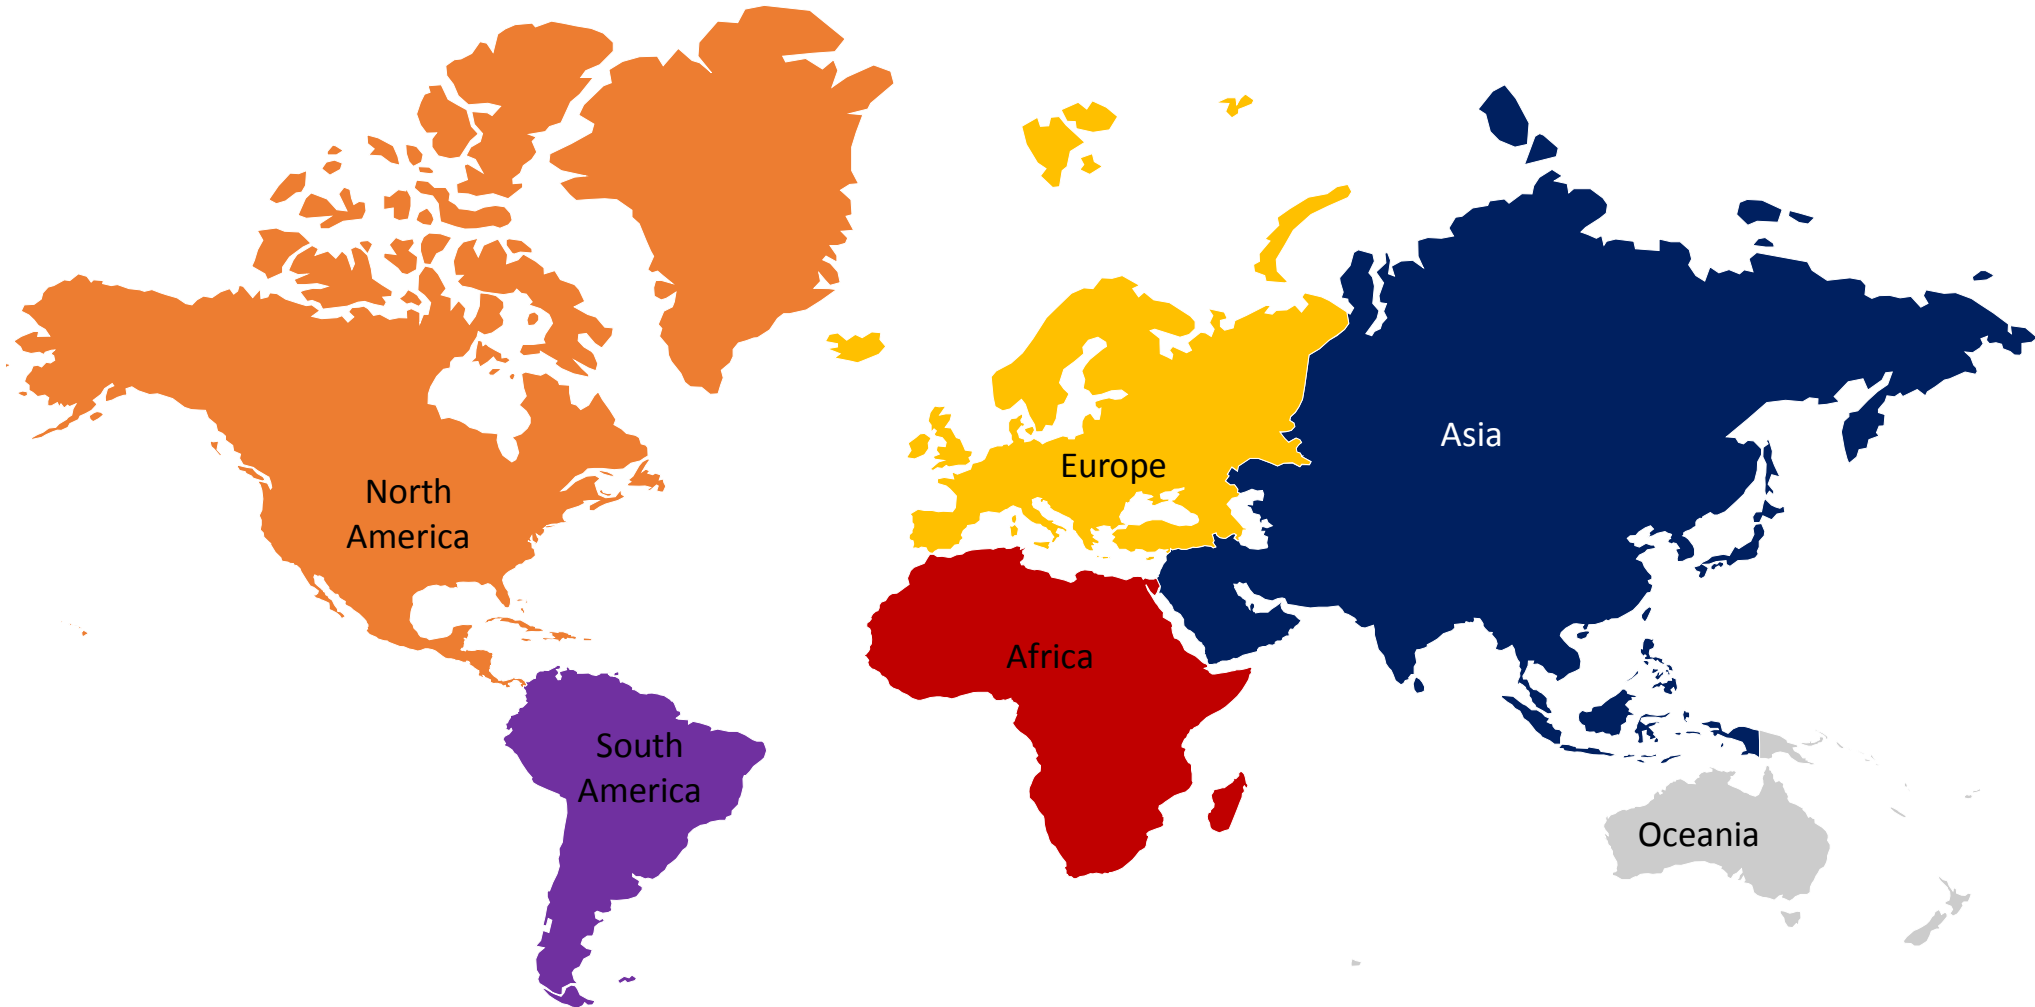

Security as a service (SecaaS or SaaS) is a cloud computing model which has been introduced to the market for delivering managed security services over the internet.

The compulsion of following regulatory and data protection laws, the extensive costs and risks associated with management of on-premises security solutions, and the growing demand for cloud-based security solutions are the prime influencers of this market.
