About Position Sensor Market

The Global Position Sensor Market size is expected to reach $8 billion by 2025, rising at a market growth of 8.6% CAGR during the forecast period.

The market for these sensors is driven by smaller form factor, less power consumption, higher feature integration, and low cost.

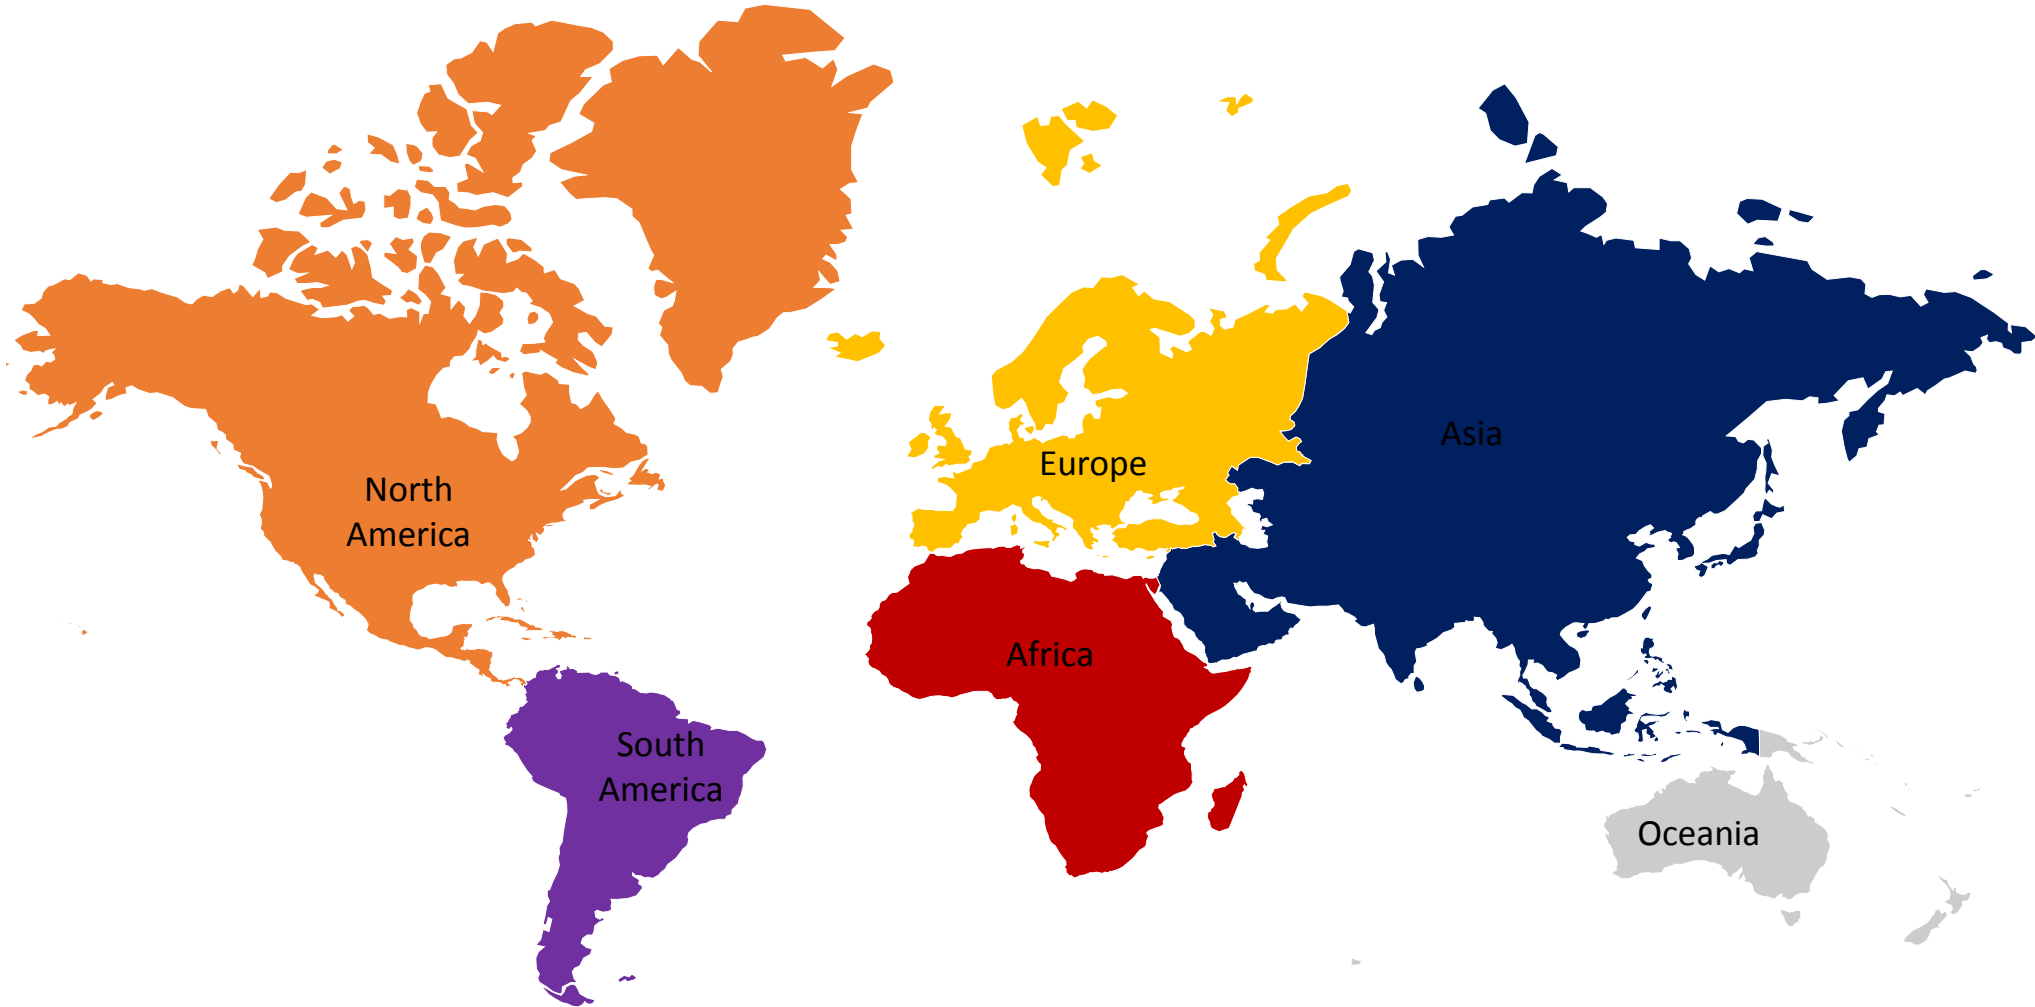

Currently, significant investments in R&D by key players have helped to develop smart and intelligent sensor systems for different novel applications in automotive, aerospace & defense, electronics, and healthcare.

For instance, Balluff announced to launch Micropulse hazardous area linear Position Sensor, which offers new features such as non-contact, wear-free, magnetostriction technology for long-term reliability, and better performance.
